Five Others
Damaged; One
F-86 Crippled

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Wednesday (AP) — Thirty seven U.S. Sabrejets battled 100 Russian-built MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea yesterday in history's biggest and longest all-jet sky fight.

The American pilots reports they shot down five MIGs and damaged five more without loss to themselves during the 35-minute action which swirled upward to six miles.

However, the Allies admitted that one U.S. F-86 was damaged, although the Sabrejet made it back home.

Today, Far East Air Force headquarters in Tokyo boosted the previous estimate of 80 Red jets to 100.

Last April 12, one hundred U.S. jets and 65 MIGs tangled over "MIG alley" but it was not an all-jet fight. Thirty-two U.S. B-29 Superfort bombers also were involved. FEAF reported then that eight MIGs were destroyed, seven probably destroyed and 18 damaged.

Aground Allied troops seized a commanding peak west of "Heartbreak Ridge" on the eastern front. In the west, and center, United Nations patrols ran up against bitter resistance.

The jet battle, ranging up to heights of 35,000 feet, lasted only 35 minutes. But it was enough to set a record for length in the brief history of jet warfare. The longest previous was a 30-minute battle September 3.

The American flight, led by Col. Francis S. Gabreski, of Oil City, Pa., America's top ace, spotted the sweepback Communist fighters over "MIG alley" south of the Yalu river and near the Manchurian border.

On the ground, U. N. troops battled hand-to-hand with Communist defenders before breaking through and capturing the hill west of "Heartbreak Ridge." A pooled dispatch from the eastern front said the Allies suffered heavy losses.

Other U. N. troops protected the flanks of the assaulting soldiers as they advanced, cleaning out bunker after bunker.

AP Correspondent Stan Carter reported that the peak considerably improved Allied positions, both against Communist supply lines and in support of the nearby fight for "Heartbreak Ridge."

The Reds have recaptured the highest peak in "Heartbreak Ridge," a strategic height which commands Communist communication lines on the part of the front.

New Meeting Held To Plan Truce Talks

Tokyo, Wednesday (AP) — Allied liaison officers flew back to Kaesong today by helicopter for a third try at reaching agreement with the Reds to resume Korean truce talks.

The Reds, who walked angrily out of yesterday's meeting, were prodded by the patient but persistent Allies into accepting a third session only a few hours before today's meeting opened.

Allied representatives made two roundtrips from Munsan, United Nations advance base, to Kaesong — once last night to propose the meeting; again this morning to get the Reds' affirmative reply.

Then the liaison team took off. A dispatch from Munsan said the meeting opened a 10:01 a.m. (9:01 p.m., EDT, Tuesday). After all the last minute flurry, the meeting thus got under way about the same hour as the other two.

But there was no indication of any bridging of the gap — between the Reds' insistence on merely deciding on a date for negotiations to resume and the Allies stand that there be a discussion of "conditions."

Gripping Sailor Faces Discipline, No Court-Martial

Norfolk, Va. (AP) — A glib who gripped about the crew served at the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training center will be disciplined but not court-martialed.

Several weeks ago Bruce S. Hopping, yeoman third class, USNR, incurred the displeasure of the Navy by distributing handbills urging his mates to tell their congressmen about the quality of the food served at Bainbridge.

The file on the case wound up in the lap of Rear Adm. R. O. Davis, commandant of the Fifth Naval District. Davis said yesterday he had considered carefully "the circumstances and charges."

OPS Launches Nationwide Drive On Meat Black Markets; Inspectors Visit Stroudsburg

Philadelphia, (AP)—Extensive violations of meat control regulations throughout Pennsylvania, in southern New Jersey and in Delaware were uncovered yesterday by special agents of the regional Office of Price Stabilization.

Acting Regional Enforcement Director William N. J. McGinniss reported a force of almost 100 investigators found illegal shipments of ungraded meat from western slaughterers, together with failure to keep adequate records of kills and weights.

The violations were discovered among some 800 large slaughter houses in the three-state area as the regional office participated in the beginning of a ten-day national drive to stamp out illegal practices and meat black markets.

McGinniss did not name any of the violators specifically but indicated court action will be instituted as soon as reports have been completed by field men.

Two-men teams supervised by Henry L. Haines, chief, and Herman Mash, district enforcement director, uncovered an unspecified amount of ungraded meats in the 35-county area of eastern Pennsylvania. Haines said that 45 agents concentrated their inspections in the major centers of Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Harrisburg, Lancaster, York, Stroudsburg and Philadelphia.

As first reports on the nationwide drive reached Washington, OPS announced that it was establishing dollars and cents ceilings on wholesale pork prices and instructing retailers to adjust their price levels accordingly.

Described as a standardization measure, the new regulations are expected to bring some immediate rises in wholesale prices. These rises will be reflected at the retail level, OPS officials said, but provision is made for a cut-back in retail costs if the price of live hogs drops.

Youth Who Knew No Danger Dies In Action In Korea

Ihlen, Minn., (AP)—In January of 1942, 12-year-old Tommy Johnson of Korea told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson, farmers near Ihlen, he had been wounded September 7, by September 14, he was back on duty.

Three days later, Tommy Johnson, who was not afraid of danger, was killed in action.

A short time ago Tommy wrote from Korea to tell his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson, farmers near Ihlen, he had been wounded September 7, by September 14, he was back on duty. Three days later, Tommy Johnson, who was not afraid of danger, was killed in action.

Moves To Hike Corporation Levies Fail

Washington (AP)—In two decisive votes yesterday the Senate refused to restore an estimated $720,000,000 a year in new corporation tax revenue to the Senate's huge tax bill.

By a vote of 62 to 20, it rejected an amendment to boost excess profits taxes on corporations by $600,000,000 annually.

A short time earlier Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) lost his attempt to eliminate from the bill a series of sections intended to give corporations additional relief from excess profits taxes at the rate of $120,000,000 a year. The vote on O'Mahoney amendment was 70 to 15.

These were major setbacks for an administration bloc which is trying to move the tax bill closer to the $10,000,000,000 goal set by President Truman.

The House has voted for $7,200,000,000 in new taxes, including a sizeable hike in personal income levies, but the Senate Finance committee recommended a measure calling for only $5,506,000,000.

Senator Millikin (R-Colo.), ranking Republican member of the Finance committee, led the fight against boosting excess profits taxes, contending the proposed change would amount to "confiscation of earnings."

The defeated amendment would have imposed a tax on profits exceeding 75 per cent of those earned in a base period—the average of the three best earning years of any corporation from 1946 through 1949. Since this provision is in the House bill, it will have to be fought out again in a Senate-House conference.

"We'd be running a racket instead of a tax if this amendment were adopted," Millikin said. In trying to knock out the $120,000,000 annual relief from excess profits taxes, O'Mahoney said corporation profits now are at a peak and businessmen can well afford to pay higher taxes.

Finance committee members argued the relief was necessary to help new companies started after World War Two and which were just beginning to build their businesses in the 1946-1949 base period.

Oatis Well, May Be Released If U. S. Eases Curbs

Washington, (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's new envoy said yesterday imprisoned Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis is "quite well." He held open the possibility that his release might be negotiated.

But first Ambassador Vladimir Prochazka said "it would be necessary to clean the atmosphere" of relations between the U. S. and Czechoslovakia. He added there were no signs of improvement at this time.

Prochazka's reassurance that Oatis is alive and well was given at a news conference at which the envoy defended Oatis' conviction and assailed the U. S. for exerting "pressure" on Czechoslovakia by means of export controls and a current move to cut off tariff concessions.

Oatis, sentenced to ten years on charges that his news reporting made him guilty of spying against the Communist regime, is now in jail, Prochazka said. He said this information was received quite recently from Prague but added no details.

State Senate Advances Income Tax Measure For Vote Today; Outcome Reported In Doubt

Harrisburg, (AP)—A sharply divided Senate, after six months of argument, yesterday finally advanced the State income tax bill for a deciding vote today.

A close vote was forecast on the measure—climaxing the longest legislative fight in modern State history.

RFC Refuses Gabrielson's Firm A Loan

Washington (AP)—The administration last night took Republican National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson part way off the hook on charges of attempting to influence the Reconstruction Finance Corp. in connection with an $18,500,000 loan to Gabrielson's firm.

Gabrielson has insisted that as a top GOP chieftain, he could have no influence with the Truman administration's multi-billion-dollar lending agency.

Last night, with demands for Gabrielson's resignation echoing on Capitol Hill, the RFC gave Gabrielson a new point for that argument—it rejected his personal plea for a one-year delay in making payments on the RFC loan to the Carthage Hydrocol Co. Gabrielson is president of the firm.

The development capped a day in which Senate investigators probed into RFC loans to the American Lithoford Corp. of St. Louis and heard testimony that the company handed out big fees—plus such gifts as perfume, turkeys and cameras—to U. S. tax agents.

But the agents denied there was any "shakedown" in their sales of Lithoford products, although some of the sales were made to firms whose taxes the agents supervised.

Grand Jury Raps Police Inspectors

New York (AP)—A boiling mad Brooklyn grand jury charged yesterday that New York's top policemen have been in league with gamblers for 10 years.

It put the finger on nearly every inspector of the past decade, labeling them a "hierarchy of corrupt officials."

Even those who never took a penny, the grand jury said, were in on the scheme to rake in bribes. The grand jury demanded a wholesale housecleaning of brass in the 19,000-man police department. It said those who can't be fired should be demoted.

It also urged that district attorneys (prosecutors) make a constant check of the cops in their boroughs.

The grand jury's bitter arraignment of the department came in the form of a presentment, which is a statement that does not require criminal prosecution like an indictment.

The racket-probing grand jury's presentment came a week after bawky hokie Harry Gross wrecked his big luche case against 18 New York policemen. Gross refused to testify against them.

The cops allegedly took $1,000,000 a year in bribes to protect Gross' $20,000,000 a year gambling ring.

Fine Reports Opposition To Tax Package

York (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine yesterday said the General Assembly's tax package "has brought in more protesting telegrams and letters in one week than the income tax program did in nine months."

The tax package was instituted in the House last week after the Fine-backed income tax had bogged down in the Senate since last April. The House-passed tax package included a number of smaller items designed to bring in $138,250,000.

"I want you to know that whatever tax bill I sign I will consider it an exceedingly poor substitute for the taxes I recommended," Fine said in a speech before 300 delegates of the Pennsylvania Realtors association.

The association winds up its 31st annual convention here today with an election of officers.

British Defy Iran Order For Ousters

London (AP)—The British Cabinet was reported last night to have decided to defy an order of Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh for the expulsion of all British oilmen from the Middle East country.

The aging Iranian premier, after repeated threats, finally gave the order yesterday for some 300 British technicians to get out within nine days. A British Foreign office spokesman said the order was a "new and serious development which is under urgent consideration."

Qualified sources said Prime Minister Attlee and his chief cabinet advisers reached their decision immediately after hearing about the order.

How they expect to make their defiance effective may be made known after the return from the United States today of Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell.

Britain has 10 warships stationed within 50 miles of her giant Abadan refinery in Iran, warplanes based in neighboring Iraq and a brigade of parachute troops only a few hours away.

The canny Mossadegh is aware, however, that any use of force by the British might be unpopular, not only in the United States and the world at large, but also among many British voters who go to the polls in a general election October 25.

Attlee, who has been criticized by Winston Churchill for being too soft in the Iranian oil crisis, is expected to confer with the Conservative leader, as well as Liberal Leader Clement Davies, and ask their support of his policy to stay in Abadan.

Fights Adding New Taxes To Income Levy

Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe told The Daily Record late yesterday in a telephone conversation from Harrisburg that adding three new tax measures to a State income tax "is too much . . . they've gone hog-wild for money they do not need."

The Monroe senator said as long as the three additional tax measures are scheduled with the income tax measure, he will vote against the income tax.

"I told the Governor last night that I might be able to go along for the income tax in its watered-down and restricted version, but then they try to add three more new taxes . . . it's too much," Crowe said.

"They don't need that much money, and I'm sure of that," he added.

Other three taxes, all part of the House "package" taxation plan, would impose a one per cent tax on real estate transfers; close loopholes in inheritance tax collections by sealing safe deposit boxes and freezing bank accounts upon death of an individual in certain cases.

Crowe indicated he is confident that the 11 original rebels who have been against an income tax as proposed by the Governor, would remain firm as long as the administration seeks four new taxes.

The proposition to bring the income tax bill up from amendment second reading stage to a final passage vote is a maneuver to keep it from being recommitted to committee, he said.

The new income tax version provides a $1,000 exemption; fixes life of the measure to May 31, 1953, and directs that all income it brings to the state be used for educational purposes and for state-aided institutions.

King Takes Nourishment

London, (AP)—King George VI took nourishment yesterday for the first time since he underwent a serious lung operation Sunday.

A medical bulletin issued by Buckingham palace revealed to the monarch's anxious subjects that he has thrown off any immediate post-operative shock or complications.

"The King has had a comfortable day and has been able to take some nourishment," the bulletin said.

The sixth issue since the operation. It was in the same encouraging vein as a morning announcement that the King had a restful night and "continues to gain strength."

A murmur of "that's good" swept through a small crowd, made up mostly of women, when the sixth bulletin was posted on the palace fence. The throng had waited through a shower for the news.

There was no final decision on whether the visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada and to Washington will be cancelled. They are due to fly to Quebec October 2.

Father Freed In Man's Death

Philadelphia (AP)—A 40-year-old father was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of a man the defendant's daughter said was bothering her by trying to kiss her.

Daniel McLaughlin, 60, was found unconscious near the home of Reynolds Woods on August 27 and died two hours later in a hospital.

Heads, 40, told the jury that his nine-year-old daughter, Joan, ran into the house and reported a man was annoying her and her playmates by trying to kiss them.

Heads said he went outside with Joan and that she pointed out McLaughlin.

Heads said he then grabbed at McLaughlin who turned and fell into the street, injuring his head.

Approve Change

Harrisburg (AP)—The Senate elections committee yesterday approved for a vote a House bill changing Pennsylvania's municipal primary date in odd years from July to May. The measure would change the primary date in such years from the fourth Tuesday in July to the third Tuesday in May.

Jury Recommends County Rebuild Or Remodel Jail

Hiring Of Architect Suggested

Steps leading to major face-lifting or rebuilding of the Monroe county jail were recommended yesterday by the county grand jury.

The 16 men and women turned in their report at 2 p. m. in the court of President Judge Fred W. Davis. They had spent the morning touring county buildings and facilities.

Sheriff Amzi F. Altomose escorted the jury through the jail, where two prisoners were caught cutting their way toward freedom Saturday.

The jury spent more than a half hour looking over the jail, peering into cells where paint is peeling from the walls, scanning the exterior, inspecting the cell block, offices, toilets, kitchen.

Sheriff Altomose had earlier termed the jail "in dilapidated condition."

Jurors remarked over the dog-eared sheets of metal supposed to keep prisoners from cutting through the attic floor over the cells on the second tier. It was by bending back a corner of the sheeting and cutting through the plank with a jack-knife that the two prisoners came close to getting into the attic Saturday.

In their report the jury advised county authorities to get the services of an expert on jail architecture, having the expert make a study of the building.

There was unanimous agreement on having the expert decide whether the jail should be rebuilt completely or the present structure remodeled.

Also recommended:

The screens on the outside of the jail windows should be checked for security.

Bars should be placed over the attic windows of the jail.

The jail roof should be repaired. Stonework should be repointed wherever necessary.

After the tour at the county home, jurors called for installation of an auxiliary power and light plant to serve the home and out-buildings.

For fire protection, installing of a sprinkling system in the home was advised.

Minor corrections noted were repairs to barn and implement shed, women's drinking fountain, and heightening of the gates at the top of the home steps by one foot.

The jury commended the county home staff for its efficient management of the property.

Attempted Jail-Breakers Sentenced On Three Charges; Will Serve 6 To 15 Years In Prison

Thomas A. McAndrew and Jacob Pentinga Jr., yesterday in Monroe county court were sentenced to a maximum of 22 years in prison for burglary, larceny and attempted jail-break.

Prison Term, Fine Decreed For Bidwell

A fine of $100 and sentence of one and a half to three years at Eastern penitentiary were ordered yesterday in Monroe county court against Alvey Duane Bidwell, 23, Blakely, for car theft.

President Judge Fred W. Davis ordered Bidwell to pay for damages to the car, owned by Robert Barry, Dunmore, clerk at the Potomac Gardens Lodge.

Bidwell had pleaded guilty before Judge Davis and Associate Judges Homer A. Shupp and T. S. Metzgar in court Monday.

Eliou Found Innocent Of Hit-Run Count

Ernest Eliou, 31, Bethlehem, yesterday in Monroe county court was found innocent of failing to identify himself at an accident.

The jury of five men and seven women, however, directed Eliou to pay costs of prosecution in the case.

Eliou was driver of a car which police said struck Harvey Terpenning, 84, as he walked near his home on Route 402 on August 8. Police said Eliou stopped his car but had driven off again without identifying himself.

out, was advised for the county buildings at 617 and 621 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, which house the County Children's Society, Tuberculosis Society, Health department, and Emergency Child Health committee.

In the county court house the jury advised checking the entire roof for leaks, repairing the leak in the roof over the court library and the damage to one wall caused by water, and replacement of broken moulding in the ceiling of the main courtroom.

The officers of Dr. William E. Becker, Chiropractor, will be open Wednesday, September 26th, and closed Friday, September 28th.

Ads.

McAndrews, 31, Wilkes-Barre, and Pentinga, 25, Ashley, pleaded guilty on the three counts. Sentences will date from Sept. 12.

President Judge Fred W. Davis ordered these sentences: burglary, six to 15 years; larceny, two and a half to five years; breaking jail with intent to escape, one to two years.

The sentences will run concurrently, however, so that the two men will actually serve a minimum of six years or a maximum of 15 years at Eastern penitentiary.

In addition to the prison sentence, a fine of $100 was ordered for each man.

Attorney George G. Shafer, of Stroudsburg, was appointed as counsel for the two men.

District Attorney Delleff A. Hansen prosecutor before Judge Davis and Associate Judges Homer A. Shupp and T. S. Metzgar.

Last night the prisoners still were in the county jail. Deputy sheriffs said they did not know when prison authorities would arrive to take them away.

McAndrew and Pentinga on Saturday were caught carving their way through the ceiling of their cell and into the jail attic. They used a jack-knife.

The two have stuck to their story that they found the jack-knife wrapped in tissue paper under the attic floor when they bent back a corner of the sheet metal lining of the cell ceiling.

Sheriff Amzi F. Altomose filed the attempted jail-break charge, and the two pleaded guilty at preliminary hearings in the jail Monday afternoon.

Police said the burglary was of $2,809 from Potomac Manor Inn July 31. The larceny was of an automobile from the Inn. The car was later found abandoned at Pittston.

The pair eluded Pennsylvania police and made their way to New York City, District Attorney Hansen said, where they apparently spent some of their money. Receipts from an expensive New York night club were in their possession when they were arrested later.

They went across the continent to California, and were arrested there following an argument involving a drive-it-yourself car. Oakland police held them for Pennsylvania authorities, and Sheriff Altomose and Trooper James Horan of Mount Pocono State police brought them back for trial here.

James Bryson Sentenced In Stabbing Case

After pleading guilty of aggravated assault and battery, James Bryson, 25, Blakeslee farmhand, was fined $100 and sentenced to one to two years in prison yesterday in Monroe county court.

He made the plea of guilty before President Judge Fred W. Davis and Associate Judges Homer A. Shupp and T. S. Metzgar.

Police said that on August 31 Bryson stabbed Zaek Hall, 29, also of Blakeslee, in the back three times. Hall was not hospitalized.

Bryson will serve the sentence at Eastern penitentiary.

Storer Pays $250 Fine For Selling Beer

A $250 fine was paid yesterday in Monroe county court by Charles E. Storer, Paradise Valley, for selling beer without a license.

Storer pleaded guilty before President Judge Fred W. Davis and Associate Judges Homer A. Shupp and T. S. Metzgar.

A State liquor control agent testified he bought several bottles of beer August 16 in the Rumpus room at Rolling Hill lodge, owned by Storer.

Paint Lightens Room That's Dark

Much can be done with paint to bring sunshine into a room that is discouragingly dark in the daytime. One solution is to paint the ceiling a light yellow and to repeat the sunshiny color on other areas. The window sills, together with the rest of the window woodwork can, for instance, be painted a slightly darker yellow. Walls, doors and door frames can be coated with a soft cream color.

Tuberculosis Society Spends Nearly $1,000 In Mass X-Ray Program To Date, Follow-Up Work Involves 429 Persons

Mass X-ray expenses paid by the Monroe County Tuberculosis Society to date amount to $992.21. Directors of the society were advised at the first Fall meeting this week.

Carl T. Secor, president, conducted the meeting which featured a report by Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary on follow-up work which the society carried out on 429 persons whose X-rays by the mobile X-ray units sent here by Department of Health showed need for re-X-rays.

The society defrayed expenses of the re-X-ray and other follow-up work.

Mrs. Fleming said out of the 429 there were 342 re-X-rayed. Sixty-one failed to keep re-X-ray appointments. Two were placed under treatment.

The executive secretary said 26 were accounted for. A check showed 10 were out of county or out of state. However, they or their family physicians were advised regarding re-X-ray needs. Ten others moved before the additional X-ray program started and three died. One other individual used his private physician for X-ray follow-up. Some 42 individuals had uncertain diagnosis and are being checked. Eight active cases of tuberculosis have been guided to proper care channels.

The mass X-ray project was achieved with cooperation of Department of Health and Monroe County Medical Society.

Directors approved plans for the Pennsylvania Week observance being sponsored by the society. A luncheon meeting with all service clubs, women's clubs and welfare and health agencies cooperating will take place at noon in the Penn-Stroud hotel.

Dr. Russell Teague, Pennsylvania health secretary, will be the speaker. He will discuss the new legislation making it possible to set up local health units in each county.

Recognition of Miss Loretta Biggs, whose single-handed campaign made tuberculosis a compensable claim disease for nurses, is also planned for this meeting.

Mrs. Fleming also reported on results of the public health service meeting at Pittsburgh and on plans for the Wilkes-Barre TB conference this week.

Jonas T. May presented part three of the society's evaluation study. Some recommendations in the report will be immediately adopted.

Present besides Mr. Secor and Mrs. Fleming were M. F. Wies, Brodheadville, a new board member; Mr. May, Mrs. Nelson T. Beers, Dr. Harold S. Pond, Dr. Robert Brown.

Single License Plate

Some half a million dollars is anticipated as the saving resulting from Pennsylvania's decision to issue a single license plate for 1952 rather than the two that have been customary for so many years.

The saving, as interpreted by the Department of Revenue charged with the task of issuing the plates and collecting the fees therefor, derives from the cost of steel and the postage charges.

This will be the second time the state has confined its automobile license plates to a single issue, the first time being in 1944 when again the question of saving materials arose. In 1943, small metal tags marking the year were affixed to the 1942 plates. This custom is still carried on by a number of other states as a regular procedure.

In any case, the only ones who are not in favor of the single plate scheme are police, who contend they have a better chance to identify stolen cars if tags are affixed fore and aft.

Protection Guaranteed

The famed police-bookie bribery trial in Brooklyn is over. Harry Gross, the town's kingpin gambler, refused to testify against the 18 cops he is said to have paid off at the rate of $1,000,000 a year. The indictments against the cops were dismissed and Gross was sent to jail for five years and fined $15,000 for contempt of court.

The trial was a shocking fiasco and reflects badly on most of the principals. More serious, however, is the fact that the trial shows clearly that the gang still rides high in Brooklyn because it was able to keep Gross quiet. Also it will encourage others of the ilk of the 18 cops to continue to take big chances with honor and the law.

The one consolation is that Gross will have to pay heavily for his arrogance in the courtroom. He will have to pay heavily, too, for having been a gambler. He now awaits sentence of 65 counts of a gambling indictment. He can expect no mercy.

The fact remains, however, that the gambling industry itself retains its usual protection against indiscretion by any one of its members.

Tax Them, Too

What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. Except in the case of certain government officials who are excused by law from paying taxes on part of their salaries.

The President is paid $100,000 a year upon which he pays income taxes. He also gets $50,000 a year for expenses but pays no tax on that.

The Vice President and Speaker of the House enjoy $10,000-a-year expense accounts upon which they pay no levy. Representatives and Senators draw $12,500 in salary that is taxed, but they also are allotted $2500 annually for expenses and that is tax free.

Since these are the men and women who decide how much we must pay to support the government, it seems only fair that they should pay on all their income as do the rest of us.

Senator John J. Williams, Delaware Republican, thinks so, too. He has introduced a bill that would abolish this tax-free status for the officials named.

If the bill becomes law, it won't bring in much revenue. But it will put the people who write the Federal tax laws and enforce them on the same footing with those who pay the tax.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has held that office since 1924.

Moths have been reported flying over the ocean nearly 1,000 miles from land.

10 Years Ago

Picnic — Mr. and Mrs. Oren Shively, of Minisink Hills, entertained members of the No. 7 Federated Rural Carriers, at their new bungalow.

P. T. A. — Executives of Clearview P. T. A. convened at the home of the president, A. Byrd McDowell, to plan the year's program. The officers include Mrs. Mildred Williams, Mrs. Lucy Quig, Mrs. Mabel Carson and Mrs. Walter Schumaker.

Federated Clubs — County organization was host to Federated Clubs of Northeast Pennsylvania. Mrs. Arthur Helms, president of local group, is official hostess. Officers discussed the deplorable chaos of the world and the part clubwomen must play in the defense of this country. Red Cross training and study of democracy advocated. Among those greeting the visitors were Mrs. Raymond Price, Mrs. John F. Henry, Mrs. Henry Hefele and Mrs. Clarence Budge. Several past presidents of Junior Women's Club were present, including Mrs. Carlton Long and Mrs. Horace R. Westbrook. Other members and officers served as guests: Mrs. Raymond Kehr, Mrs. G. B. Hollar, Mrs. John S. Cartwright and Mrs. Howard R. Flagler, Jr.

Coal Strike — Disorder and violence flare in hard coal fields of Wilkes-Barre and vicinity.

Storm — Linemen of electric company were busy from 2 to 9 a. m. removing trees that fell across power lines during the severe rain and wind storm in the Poconos.

Cars Stolen — The coupe of C. J. Neyhart was stolen at the Allentown Fair. A coupe of John C. Dotter, Saylorsburg, was stolen at Weir Lake.

In New York — Mrs. Howard Mount and Mrs. Harry Cartright are spending the day in New York City.

An Upset — Paul Sawyer, of Pocono Lake, was slightly hurt when his boat upset during the motor boat races in Philadelphia.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Noting that paper-backed books are selling by the million in America, an enterprising Berliner is preparing to introduce them in the German market. A rich tobacco magnate, maker of Reemtsma Cigarettes, is backing the undertaking — and has made one interesting condition. At the climax of every book in the series, the publisher is under obligation to insert a paragraph which goes like this: "Now is the time, Dear Reader, to relax and smoke a cool, refreshing Reemtsma Cigarette before going on with your story."

This may be perfectly O. K. in Germany, but I have an idea that if any American publisher tried it, some outraged author would visit bodily violence upon him inside of a week.

John Straley's assistant recently reported for duty with a black eye. Sadly he explained, "I met a beautiful doll at a party, but on the way home in a taxi, I guess I mistook her asthma for passion."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — "The River" could easily capture the Oscar for the year's best photography. Said to be the first color film made in India, it records some fascinating spectacles.

They include the Diwali festival, when millions of tapers gleam by night, each symbolic of a life given in the war between good and evil. . . . a jute at work . . . and a spring festival in which Hindus throw colored powders on each other to celebrate the season's arrival.

Story-wise, however, this ambitious undertaking — the first production of a go-getter ex-Hollywood florist named Ken McKelowne — is more doubtful. Adapted from Rumer Godden's novel about an English family's life along the river, the narrative scatters its shot.

The parents are played by a real-life English husband and wife — Esmond Knight (Hamlet), "The Red Shoes" and Nora Swinburne ("The Colonel's Lady" in "Quartet").

Daughter Harriet, eldest of six children, lives in an adolescent dream-world, making up poems and stories. Neighbor Valerie is 18 and snippy. Another neighbor, Melanie, the daughter of a Hindu mother and an English father, is moodily uncertain of her heritage.

The girl lives are upset by the arrival of an embittered, one-legged war veteran, played by "Bud" J. Brown, son of the movies' Production Code censor, Joseph I. Brown. Young Brown, as a U. S. Marine raider, actually did lose his right leg in World War II.

Dime A Dozen — Dean Acheson told Eugene Dooman, both of the State department, that China experts were a dime a dozen. To a degree, that is correct because during the past 100 years, a surprisingly large number of Americans, public officials, missionaries, teachers, doctors, businessmen, sea captains went to China. Some became expert in language and dialect; some played important roles in the administration of the country, especially able have been missionaries, who always live close to the people, often far inland away from the westernized atmosphere of the treaty ports.

For instance, Roy Anderson, who was born in Soochow, where father, a former newspaperman in Atlanta, Georgia, turned missionary, was president of Soochow University. Roy Anderson spoke many dialects of Chinese and played Chinese politics like a true Southern Democrat. He was an important factor in Sun Yat-Sen's revolution of 1911 which defeated the Manchus.

Subsequently from 1911 to 1925 when he died, Anderson made and unmade cabinet officers, provincial governors and, in one in-

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington — The American political controlling the Department of State is spending over $200,000,000 to control press, motion picture and magazine enterprises in the U. S.

The same technique was employed in Hitler's Germany, the Soviet Union and to some extent in France, where many newspapers have long promoted the views of administrations willing to pay for the publicity.

I related yesterday the details of State department payments to five Columbia broadcasting system employees who cover news out of Washington and New York. This was a mere tidbit compared to handouts from the State department to "free lance" writers, magazines and motion picture firms.

Since the State department's politburo would naturally place its money where it will do the most good it is worth noting that the movie industry alone got $8,000,000. Major magazines, who have accredited correspondents covering the affairs of Congress, got thousands of dollars. Although itself employing several thousand writers, photographers and editors at the cost of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 annually, the State department nevertheless handed over payments to outside writers that ran as high as $4,000 for a single script. It is impossible to determine from State department files how many beneficiaries of this largesse are left-wingers, but only the noblest fool in Washington would doubt there are many.

Buying up the brains and facilities of writers, editors and broadcasters is only one approach of the State department's politburo in seeking to control press and radio freedom. President Truman revealed one attack in a recent speech belaboring newspapers for wanting to hold down second class mail rates. The President went far afield in accusing newspaper editors of using lies and unfair tactics. It was a neat smear job, but strangely enough none of the bleeding hearts rushed to the defense of the press. They howl whenever a Communist gets tagged, but this apparently was different.

Another approach is to allocate newspaper. The State department politburo wants this job, also, although Congress seems reluctant to hand it over. The best way to silence a critic, of course, is to deny him the means whereby his criticism can be called to public attention.

Naturally, Secretary of State Acheson does not put it so bluntly. He says instead that such pro-Soviet governments as India's need thousands of tons of paper for anti-Communist propaganda in the form of leaflets, etc. That I've got to see Under Prime Minister Nehru, the Indian government would have to do a lot of straining to say anything rough about Stalin even an American newspaper snatched from U. S. publishers.

Probably the weirdest recent attack on the free press came from that expert on American publications, the late and self-lamented senator from Maryland, Millard Tydings. Speaking from his vast knowledge of the publishing business, Tydings demanded that a limit be set on how many newspapers any man could own. Just as the Communists do, he apparently would parcel out the present properties of the newspaper chains to deserving party members who could be relied on to support his and the administration's views. That would be fine, except this isn't Russia, yet. It's still the U. S. A., where any man — including Tydings — is permitted to accumulate what he can in property and cash.

Why the big assault on newspapers now? Why the purchases, even a president. He died in Peking on the very same day that Sun Yat-Sen died there and the Chinese erected a monument to him.

There were many such Americans in China. Rodney Gilbert, for instance, who occasionally writes for the "New York Herald Tribune," was regarded by Chinese as one of the best informed men in the country. Upton Close was an adviser to Wu Pei-Fu. George Fitch was always close to Chiang Kai-shek. At one time, nearly every Chinese war-lord or official of standing had an American adviser, and many of them did excellent service.

The businessmen, particularly those connected with the British-American Tobacco Company and the Standard Oil Company of New York, stayed long and knew much. No man has accumulated more information and more friends than Major Arthur Bassett of the British-American Tobacco Company. His career in China might be cited as an example of prolonged residence and vast knowledge.

A Missourian, he arrived in China in 1906 from the Philippines where he was an American lawyer. He was the United States district attorney attached to the American court under extraterritorial jurisdiction. Subsequently, he joined the British-American Tobacco Company. During World War I, he was provost marshal, attached to the 15th Infantry in Tientsin. He was an astute intelligence officer.

Bassett possessed an unerring intuition concerning Chinese which made it possible for him to take an obscure cigarette, the "Ruby Queen," and make it the best selling brand in the country by the employment of Chinese methods of selling through a Chinese organization of his own devising. As a matter of fact, his success served to revolutionize the sales methods of all companies dealing in imported consumer goods.

In the 1930's there must have been a thousand or more men and women of this calibre in the United States, Americans with a vast and intensive knowledge of Chinese Chinese affairs and personalities, and some of them with prolonged residence in that country and other parts of Asia. They were all available for the service of our government.

After Roosevelt became president, most of the so-called "old China hands" were dropped by the State department. Because of their long residence in the country they were supposed to be prejudiced. Because they knew so many important Chinese personally and intimately, they were supposed to be biased. Even office of a Very Big Political Boss (he had been attacking) and brazenly announced that a member of his family was sick and he needed $2,500.

The Very Big Political Sucker gave it to him Then and There—and the reform candidate lost, partly because Our Hero's attacks on his opponent became suddenly milder.

One of the nicer Journalists never-do-wells of the generation was the financial editor of as old and as respected a daily as the entire world can offer. His hands were in The Pockets of a half-dozen Wall Street banking firms. They took Good Care of him—in return for a misleading story now and then—about their stock issues. The Lord Only Knows

The Bill of Rights not only gives journalists the privilege to record the truth—it also entrusts them with the responsibility of preserving the moral basis of Free Journalism.

Newspaper people who betrayed that trust are in a minority. It is a tribute to the vigor of the American Press (and the honest craftsmen) that it has survived those who perverted its basic concepts.

On the whole the Fourth Estate is a good watchdog, but a little self-appraisal might do no harm. All the grafters aren't in police uniforms or sitting in the pompous offices of the nation's Tammany Halls. All the racketeers do not use tommyguns and lead pipes. Some can be found in the sacred sanctuaries of those honored guardians of public morals, the newspaper offices. They use typewriters, the most lethal of all weapons.

There was that Shining Example, Jake Lingle. In his death he left behind a lesson to the Crooked Scriber: Just be careful and don't doublecross your fellow-thieves of the Real Underworld.

Decades ago Chicago reporter Lingle was assassinated by mobsters. His publisher promptly launched a Free Press vs. Underworld Crusade. The boss urged other publishers to join the war. But they snubbed it for an understandable reason: They knew Lingle was no martyr. That he was one of the errand boys for Alphonse Capone.

Among Jake's worthy successors was the Cold-Have-Been-Brilliant city editor of a Very Large Eastern daily. (He means in New York City.) This Dirty Word "took it down" from everybody he could "shake." That included his own staffers. They had to divvy 50-50 with him when he signed an advance for them. His favorite Trick-Shot, though, was The Threatened Exposure.

He would assign two of his reporters to a city (preferably a resort town) for a preliminary survey of vice and gambling conditions. As ostentatiously as possible, they would ask a few questions in The Right Spot—while eyeed (schone rep was well known to the mob) sat back and licked his chops waiting. He usually didn't wait long and his scores were many and hefty. $25,000, for example, from one Jersey resort town. (He means Atlantic City.)

Then there's the leading political writer for an internationally respected gazette in the borough the Indians sold for $24. This Gangster of the Press scored such devious methods. He depended on the old unpaid "bribe." During a heated campaign recently (when his paper was going all out for the reform candidate for mayor) he sauntered into the ing of radio and motion picture allegiance? It's probably unfair to remind ourselves that 1952 is just around the corner. An editor denied newspaper, under investigation for owning more than one newspaper whose writers are on State department part-time, hand-out payrolls, is less likely to have time for exposing some of the fouler, smelling administration scandals.

men in the State department, with long experience in China were shoved out of the department altogether or moved to other parts of the world with which they had no familiarity.

An entirely new crowd came in. Dean Acheson and Alger Hiss who took over management of Far Eastern affairs, had had no Far Eastern experience, knew no Far Eastern language and had never visited a Far Eastern country. The same was true of Dr. Philip Jessup.

Most of the newer men who emerged as authorities centered about the Institute of Pacific Relations, then profoundly dominated by Frederick Vanderbilt Field and Owen Lattimore. This organization became a kind of Far Eastern trade union that, in some manner, now being investigated by the McCarran committee, exercised an undue influence upon the selection and promotion of personnel in the Far Eastern divisions of the State department.

Dean Acheson could, out of the many Americans with Far Eastern experience, select those whom he wished as experts and advisers. He apparently chose not the most experienced, the most successful or the wisest, but those who fitted his predispositions. The question then arises: What predisposed him in the direction that he took?

This fondness for Tainted Money isn't always confined to the employees. Sometimes it goes higher up. A few years ago a legislative probe in a Western State (he means California) disclosed that many of the sports writers in a certain glamor town were On The Pad of some sports promoters. For sums like $25 a week.

When their names came out—all were fired immediately—to the accompaniment of inspiring editorials such as the one that began: "Journalism has no place for men of this type. We are cleaning our own house."

Compare the thoughts of today with the thoughts of many, many years ago.

Was the Bible written on a twelve-hundred-parts typewriter? The Gettysburg address? The Declaration of Independence? Did they have typewriters when they discovered that the earth was round?

Did Shakespeare have a typewriter? Burns? Longfellow? I wonder whether this world was not a happier world when it was much smaller, much simpler, much more compact.

You can fly to Europe in eleven hours today — in another few years it will be six, four, two. In still a few more years you might be shot to London or Paris in a rocket ship and arrive before you leave.

There is no more mystery, no more romance, no more adventure to traveling.

Did not human beings respect each other more when they knew each other less?

Does not familiarity REALLY breed contempt? Does absence not REALLY make the heart grow fonder?

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing, says another proverb.

And the knowledge we DO have about most things isn't really knowledge at all, because too many verities of today become tomorrow's fallacies.

Imagine, it takes twelve hundred parts today to write such little words as T-R-U-T-H, L-O-V-E, P-E-A-C-E.

And yet the more parts it takes, the less there is of them to write about.

Yes, indeed, the mountain was in labor and brought forth a mouse!

There is no more mystery, no more romance, no more adventure to traveling.

Did not human beings respect each other more when they knew each other less?

Does not familiarity REALLY breed contempt? Does absence not REALLY make the heart grow fonder?

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing, says another proverb.

And the knowledge we DO have about most things isn't really knowledge at all, because too many verities of today become tomorrow's fallacies.

Imagine, it takes twelve hundred parts today to write such little words as T-R-U-T-H, L-O-V-E, P-E-A-C-E.

And yet the more parts it takes, the less there is of them to write about.

Yes, indeed, the mountain was in labor and brought forth a mouse!

Hamilton Township To Consider Erecting Consolidated School

Mass Meeting Scheduled For Thursday At 8

Sciota — A Hamilton Township "town meeting", open to all citizens of that region will be held at Old Fellows Hall here at 8 p.m. Thursday to discuss matters relating to the existing school system and the proposal to erect a consolidated school. At present, the district operates one-room schools.

A committee of citizens have obtained the services of Rev. C. Clyde Levergood as moderator "to openly and frankly discuss school problems."

The tentative agenda of matters which the committee proposes shall be discussed were announced as follows:

How much would the much talked about new consolidated school really cost?

How much in additional taxes would we have to pay?

May we have an eight and four plan, or is the six and six plan of grades compulsory?

Is our present Hamilton Township school system preparing our children for ninth grade work as well as nearby township systems?

Are we satisfied with our present high school set-up, or should we work with nearby townships toward our own high school?

The committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keegan, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Boyd, Mrs. Donald Steele, Mrs. Robert Feilg, Mrs. Walter Young, Mrs. Harold Treible, Mrs. Albert Nelson, Mrs. Kathleen Van Why, Mrs. Elmer Veely, Donald DeOrte.

Spokesmen for the committee said "these problems and many more like them are of vital interest not only to parents but to every resident. It must be remembered all of them affect the pocketbook of every taxpayer."

County, township and school officials have been invited to attend and participate in discussions or help arrive at answers to proposed questions and other inquiries.

"We are after factual matters only and not interested in rumor or speculation, a great amount of the spokesman said."

Republican Politician Testifies Mickey Dee Warned Friend Not To Run For Office In 1949

New York, (AP)—A Republican politician said yesterday a friend of his wanted to run for office but was warned not to by reputed gambler Michael (Mickey) Dee Dalesio.

When the friend tried to go ahead anyway, Arthur T. Berge told a State crime probe, the GOP machine on Staten Island ganged up on him and knocked him out of the race.

Senate To Vote On Tax

that the companion tax measure be voted on before the income tax.

Sen. John J. Haluska (D-Camden) took the position that the first vote should be on the income levy.

Their tempers flared for a while but calmer colleagues brought about a compromise at a Democratic caucus. The result was that the income tax bill will be sandwiched between the companion tax measures.

Two long-time opponents of the disputed income tax—Sens. Montgomery F. Crowe (D-Monroe) and George N. Wade (R-Cumberland)—took qualified stands on the levy.

"So far, I have seen nothing better produced and I am convinced the State does need the money," Wade told a newsman.

Crowe said he would vote for the tax if it were separated from the companion tax bills.

"I cannot go for both," he said. "We do not need all that money. It is either the income tax or some of the package bills."

The top leadership on both the Republican and Democratic sides declined to make a forecast on the outcome of the measure. Asked for predictions were Sen. John M. Walker, Republican floor leader; Chairman T. Newell Wood (R-Luzerne) of the Senate Finance committee and Dent.

No objection was made to advancing the tax bills from the amendment second reading stage to a final passage vote. But Sen. W. J. Land (D-Washington) told the Senate:

"I am taking this action today only on the basis of an agreement that tomorrow we will band together and hope to retire this (income tax) bill to where it belongs—in the ash can."

Berge, a former State assemblyman, testified he was unofficial campaign manager in 1949 for Edward Rattigan, who had his eye in the borough presidency of Staten Island.

But, Berge related, Dee said he didn't think GOP Boss Edward Ruppelt would like it. When Rattigan tried to go ahead, anyway, Berge said the GOP organization forced him to quit.

When the two paid court on Dee, Berge said he told them: "Don't run. Ed Ruppelt would not like it and it's better not to make trouble."

Asked John M. Harlan, chief counsel for the State Crime commission:

"Had Mickey Dee succeeded Mr. Ruppelt as Republican county chairman?"

"No sir," replied the 44-year-old Berge.

The crime commission—set up by Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey—is looking into graft and corruption on Staten Island, New York City's smallest borough.

Monday Berge testified he placed horse bets with the Dee brothers—Michael, John and Alexander. They have denied that they are gamblers or control Staten Island rackets.

Mickey Dee testified Monday that Ruppelt and former GOP county secretary, Peter P. Spinelli, visited his lavish Pocongo Mountain estate in Pennsylvania occasionally.

Spinelli, now first assistant district attorney of Staten Island, testified yesterday he did visit the estate "two or three times."

He was a little hazy about why he went there.

"Maybe I was hunting," he suggested. "Or maybe I went for a ride with some of the local attorneys."

Counsel Harlan demanded loudly: "You knew Mickey was a gambler, didn't you?"

"No, I did not," Spinelli shouted back. "I never knew it."

But he admitted he had known

A. L. Snyder Honor Guest

Recorder Alfred L. Snyder, of St. John's Commandery, Knights of Malta, was given a surprise 51st birthday party when Grand Commander Clifford R. Kintner and his wife entertained at a birthday party in his honor at the Malta Temple dining room.

Mr. Snyder's birthday was on Monday, and Mrs. Kintner had decorated the table with birthday plates and napkins, and a birthday cake with candles.

Sandwiches and coffee were served to the guests, including Elias M. Paxton, Robert Price, Bert Palmer, Truman Newhart, Claude S. Cyphers, Mr. and Mrs. Kintner, and the surprised guest of honor, A. L. Snyder.

Trucker Pays $50 Fine For Overload

Delaware Water Gap—For driving an overloaded truck, Robert P. Dings, 42, Ogdensburg, N.Y., paid a $50 fine ordered by Justice of the Peace J. T. Hauser here yesterday.

Dings was arrested in the afternoon here by Pfc. James R. Riley of the Stroudsburg barracks.

Methfessel has been superseded in the crime probe by Governor Dewey because he arrested a witness for perjury after she linked him to Mickey Dee.

Dewey picked William B. Herlands, a veteran crime-prober, to take Methfessel's place.

E. L. Dikeman, Ex-Railroader, Dies At 87

Edson L. Dikeman, 757 Main St., Stroudsburg, died at his home at 10:22 a.m. yesterday. He was 87 and a native of New Milford, Pa.

Mr. Dikeman was a son of the late James W. and Emma J. Calloway Dikeman. He had served 45 years as an engineer with the Lackawanna Railroad. At one time he ran the famous first Phoebe Snow, now replaced by a modern diesel-operated Phoebe Snow.

He was a member of Mansfield Lodge, F. & A.M., Washington, N.J. Before making his home in Stroudsburg many years ago, Mr. Dikeman was a resident of Washington, N.J. He was also a member of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dikeman celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary recently.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Anne Dikeman; daughter, Mrs. John Mason, Miami, Fla.; a son, Harry L. Dikeman, Bloomingdale, N.J.; three granddaughters; two brothers, Theodore G. Dikeman and Miles C. Dikeman and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Rolfs, Peckville, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday in the William H. Clark funeral home, 1003 Main St., Stroudsburg. Rev. Ernest Campbell, Stroudsburg Presbyterian church, will officiate. Interment will be made in Laurelwood cemetery. Masonic services will be conducted by Barger Lodge, No. 225, F. & A.M., Stroudsburg at 8 p.m. Thursday in the funeral home.

School Tots See Parade Of Old Cars

Bedford (AP)—About 3,000 laughing, cheering school children were among some 12,000 persons who watched the Glidden tour of ancient cars parade through Bedford yesterday afternoon.

The youngsters had been hauled to the two-mile parade route in school buses from various sections of Bedford county. A few of them had seen the antique autos—some of them nearly 50 years old—when the tour visited here in 1948, but most of them were viewing the vintage buggies for the first time.

Nearly 125 cars were in the line of march. Not only were the owners and drivers clad in the raiment of the 1900-1910 but each car carried a number of Bedford citizens, also wearing heirloom clothing.

"This is probably the largest and best collection of antique cars ever gathered in one place," commented one of the tourists.

"It will be well recorded for posterity," said another. "I think every person who saw the parade today had a camera in his hand."

Today the tour moves on, following the turnpike eastward. The caravan will split into three groups tonight, staying overnight in Carlisle, Harrisburg and Hershey. Thursday's final lap will take the tourists to Skytop, Pa., in the Pocono mountains for a windup celebration.

Excessive Use Of Lime May Ruin Lawn

Lime in itself is not a fertilizer though judging from the way some gardeners use it every spring on their lawns one might get the impression that it was a substitute for it. While a little lime may do much good, an excess will do considerable harm.

Except for Kentucky bluegrass all the grass seed species used in the better lawn grass mixtures require a slightly acid soil, so heavy or continual applications of lime are detrimental. Furthermore a high lime content encourages the growth of crabgrass.

For applications on an established lawn, pulverized dolomitic limestone is preferred over hydrated lime. It is less caustic, sifts more readily down to the soil surface and is not inclined to cake so hard after getting wet.

Although it takes half again as much pulverized limestone as hydrated lime to obtain the same effect, this is offset by the latter price. In preparing a new seeded hydrated lime well mixed with the soil is perfectly satisfactory.

Take Care Of Linoleum

At this season of the year, many housewives dress up their kitchens with bright, new linoleum. And if this fresh floor covering is given the right sort of treatment at the outset, it will retain its newness indefinitely and last much longer.

"How should I take care of a linoleum floor which has been neither waxed nor varnished," inquires Mrs. H. T. G.

The answer is: Sweep the floor with a soft brush and dust with an oil or dry mop. For more thorough cleanings, use a cloth wrung out of suds made with lukewarm water and a mild soap, rinse with clear water, and dry.

Only a small space of the linoleum should be wet at a time. A linoleum-covered floor should never be flooded with water.

Some linoleum comes from the factory finished with clear lacquer; other grades are surfaced with wax. The life of lacquer-finished linoleum can be prolonged by surfacing it with either paste wax or a liquid wax emulsion. A wax finish can be easily renewed when necessary and can be kept bright by dry wiping. Occasional polishing with, of course, improve the finish.

Lacquer-finished linoleum can be re-lacquered, but linoleum that has been waxed cannot be lacquered without first removing all traces of wax. Wax can be taken by softening it with clear gasoline, benzine or naphtha and wiping with clean rags.

These solvents are highly inflammable and extreme caution should be exercised in the use of them.

Broom Closet Easily Built

Tall, narrow closets designed for the storage of brooms, mops and vacuum cleaners are becoming increasingly more common in modern homes, but the valuable service they offer need not be denied to the housewife whose home was built a decade or more ago.

It is a simple and inexpensive matter to install broom closets in existing homes, and the efficiency which they will contribute to the kitchen will more than likely repay any home owner who undertakes the job.

THE BRONTE is a basementless house. This is provided for by having an insulated floor slab being laid directly on a bed of gravel. In order to fit a narrow lot, the utility room, with heating plant, storage and laundry facilities, has been placed to the rear of the house. The plumbing is grouped in the adjoining bathroom, kitchen and utility room.

The kitchen cabinets are placed on two walls leaving a large dining space. All of the rooms open into a small central hall, which also has a linen closet. There is a coat closet in the living room and wardrobe type closets in the bedrooms. The utility room has a large storage cabinet, coat closet and closet for housekeeping supplies.

The exterior is finished with wide siding and an asphalt shingle roof. The front entrance door is protected by simple lattice work. The overall dimensions are 30 feet by 32 feet with the main body of the house 24 feet deep. The floor area is 822 square feet and the cubage 10,686 cubic feet.

Decorators Compile List Of 'Don't's

These ideas about decoration are from leading decorators. They are worth study, and apply to many situations. However, most hard-and-fast rules have exceptions.

Don't be misled into believing that ash trays that resemble animals, fish, flowers, or almost anything but an ash tray are in good taste unless they make some point about the personality of the owner or fit into the scheme of decoration. An ash tray that is obviously an ash tray in a simple, square, round or oblong shape of good color and material is far more decorative—and much less confusing to your guests.

Don't cover the tops of your tables, chests, etc., with unnecessary dollies—the patterns of the woods are more interesting and were made to be shown.

Don't clutter the mantel or the top of the book shelves with bric-a-brac and family photographs. One or two important pieces is all you need.

Don't if you have a grand piano, hide its graceful proportions and beautiful cabinet woods with your grandmother's silk shawl—or anything else. It's handsome enough and big enough to stand on its own.

Don't decorate your upholstered pieces with antimacassars (protectors) of the lace or embroidered variety. Instead, if you want to protect the arms and backs, order matching material at the time you

Old Theory On Land Cost Is Outdated

The long established theory that the land it occupies should represent only 10 per cent of the total cost of a home is no longer applicable says Irving Keith, Englewood, N. J., broker.

More and more communities are increasing minimum lot frontages to 75 feet, he points out, and these oversize lots command higher prices than did the 40-foot or 50-foot front sites formerly sold.

Buyers who insist on adhering to the old "10 per cent for land" rule may find themselves penny wise and pound foolish, Mr. Keith warns. Unwise selection of land may cost many times more in the eventual resale of a home than the few dollars that might be saved today, he says.

Cure For Sticking Dresser Drawers

Dresser and cabinet drawers usually are made out of soft wood and often left unfinished. In damp seasons they may stick and bind because of swelling of the wood.

One way to prevent this is to thoroughly seal all surfaces with shellac or other sealer during dry periods while the wood is shrunk. Then rub the bottom edges and the running surfaces with paraffin.

In severe cases, sanding, filing or planing may be necessary. This always should be done to the bottom edges only and done carefully to avoid looseness. Follow with thorough paraffin rubbing.

Reach For Bleach

In refinishing, it is sometimes desirable or necessary to bleach all or portions of the wood after the old finish has been removed. There are special materials on the market for this purpose as well as for bleaching new wood to secure the popular blonde finishes.

Uniform Tax Assessment Bill Passes

Harrisburg (AP)—A bill placing tax assessments on a uniform basis was revived and passed by the House yesterday.

The measure had previously been defeated. It passed on a second try by a 141-42 vote.

The bill is part of a package prepared by Pennsylvania's Local Government commission and designed to modernize and streamline the tax assessment procedures in affected counties—those with a population of less than 250,000.

The legislation would set up a board of assessors charged with transferring all real estate from an assessed to market valuation basis.

Rep. James N. Robertson (R-Delaware), supporting the bill, told the House:

"This measure would streamline the collection of real estate taxes and accurately collect taxes on all lands."

Rep. Charles R. Reagan (R-Union), opposing the bill, told the House the measure would do away with elected assessors and place assessing powers in the county courthouse.

Robertson denied the contention

You're paying for a Packard....why not own one?

Packard is holding the line on prices!

We can't tell, of course, what may happen in later months. But in the face of industry-wide price boosts, Packard has made today's decision: No price increases now!

And why is it possible for Packard to continue holding the line on prices?

Answer: Because Packard "got in under the wire" on its latest (and greatest) new-model changeover.

That was a wise move for Packard to make—and it points to a wise move for you to make . . .

Check today's delivered prices on auto row. You'll know then, for certain: "You're paying for a Packard . . . why not own one?"

One easy step never took you so far!

CASUAL GUESTS

CASUAL SECTION, Headquarters Battalion, First Marine Division, in Korea, probably handles as many "guests" in a week as some of the leading hotels in the United States. This unit's job is to care for transit Marines en route to and from the front. They are supplied with shoes, uniforms, toilet articles and equipment necessary for their next billet, whether it be front-line duty or rotation to the States. As soon as they arrive at Casual Section, "casuals" are furnished with facilities for haircuts, bathing, messing, sleeping and recreation. Need for this section became apparent last winter when Leathernecks suffered from frostbite at Hungnam. Medical facilities were provided for Casual Section and, in no time at all many of the lesser cases were restored to duty. Front-line activities and weather conditions usually determine the number of transients. They average from 600 to 800 weekly. Seldom do the "casuals" stay more than a day or two. Accommodations of Casual Section do not compare with those afforded by leading hotels, but Marines who spend a little time with the section get a chance to rest, relax and write a letter home, red letter items for fighting men.

Newly Equipped Kindergarten Opens In Ramsey Building

A new kindergarten opened Tuesday in the Ramsey school, Sixth and Thomas Sts., Stroudsburg, with decor and equipment especially designed for that age group of school children.

Roger Dunning, principal of Ramsey, said the purpose of the new kindergarten is to relieve the overcrowded condition of a kindergarten which has been operating for some time in the Morey school on W. Main St.

The Ramsey kindergarten is designed to serve the children of families in the central and extreme eastern part of the borough.

Miss Cynthia Doan, formerly of the Shawnee Nursery school, is the teacher.

Room is brightly finished with attractive inlaid linoleum floor covering.

Many of the materials furnished by the Sheppard School service, Burlington, N. J., were utilized. The firm is specialists in kindergarten set-ups. Miss Jane Sheppard of the firm came here to assist in planning the room which is characterized by blocking out activity centers.

Block accessories and sand tables form one center. Others include housekeeping, clayworking, painting, music and planning circle with library and puzzle centers added.

Housekeeping equipment is especially interesting in that it is of proper size for five year olds, and is constructed to withstand hard usage.

Mr. Dunning said children are still being accepted and a number of out-of-district children are already enrolled.

Youth Center Wins Support Of Principals

Plans for the American Legion's youth center in East Stroudsburg were approved yesterday by Alfred W. Munson and Ralph O. Burrows, principals of the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg high schools, Legion officials reported.

The center will be operated by the George N. Kemp Post No. 346, for youths aged 13 to 20.

Administering the center will be a youth board of directors elected from the two borough high schools. The center will be located in the post's auditorium, and will be open one day a week.

The decision on which day has been left to the high school principals, according to Robert Fisher, chairman of the Legion's Activities committee.

Bank Rations Small Change

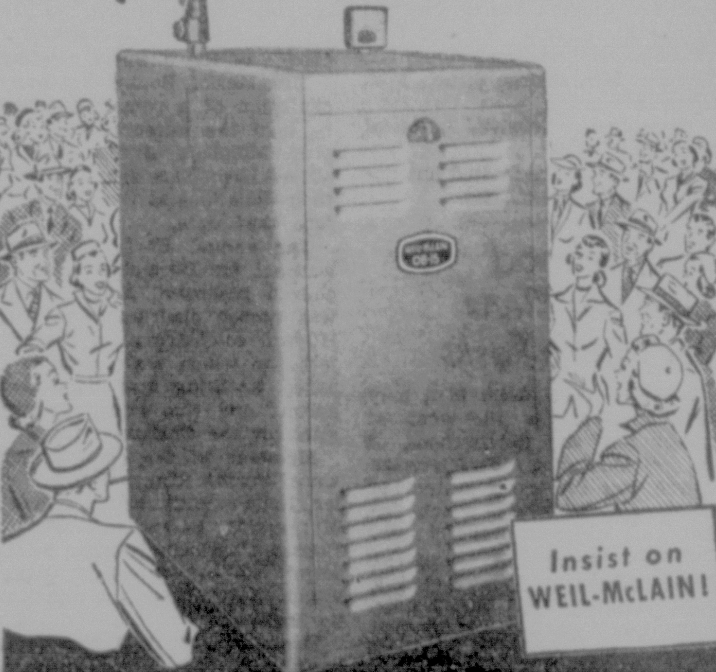

New York (AP)—Rationing has hit the small change supply in the Second Federal Reserve district.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York said yesterday it is restricting banks in the district—New York State, 12 northern counties of New Jersey and Fairfield county, Conn.—to 50 per cent of their 1950 requirements of pennies and nickels and 75 per cent of their 1950 use of quarters.

A spokesman for the bank said the dime situation was not affected. He noted that the bank receives large quantities of dimes from transit authorities in New York City and this permits a rapid turnover.

He said that the shortage of coins apparently is nationwide.

WEIL-McLAIN OB-15 OIL-FIRED BOILER

The Weil-McLain OB-15 occupies no more space than your favorite easy chair, but will really put new life in your old hot water or steam heating system!

This modern comfortizer has the features which make Weil-McLain Boilers famous for economy and long life. First of all, it's built of cast iron—everybody knows that cast iron is the ageless, rust-resistant metal.

- And here's why the OB-15 Boiler keeps fuel bills at rock bottom—
1. It's a round boiler—the shape which best utilizes the burner flame.
 2. Back and forth fire travel through finned flues extracts maximum heat from fuel burned.
 3. Fibre glass insulation keeps heat where it belongs—in the boiler! Besides—you get an ample supply of year-round domestic hot water from the built-in water heater.

Have you seen Weil-McLain Snug Baseboards?

Latest in modern heating! Installed in place of the regular baseboards, these inconspicuous heating units provide a constant flow of radiant sunny warmth over the floors and throughout the house. Can be installed in new or old homes.

The North District, Philadelphia Conference of the Women's Societies of Christian Service of the Methodist church, will be held in the East Stroudsburg Methodist church on Thursday, September 27.

The morning session at 10:30 will open with devotions conducted by Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the host church. The morning will be devoted to an officers training program, and other discussion groups.

Luncheon will be served at noon by the circles of the East Stroudsburg church.

The afternoon session will open with devotions led by Mrs. Albert Brooks. The afternoon speaker will be Miss Edith Rober, who writes extensively for the magazine, "The Methodist Women."

Band Parents Seek Members; Plan Bake Sale

The first meeting of the Band Parents of Stroudsburg high school was held on Monday night with Jack Mullin, president, presiding.

Walter Marshall was appointed as chairman of a membership to stimulate membership in the organization, which is devoted to promoting the school bands. Parents of junior band members are to be invited to join other band parents.

Mrs. Jack Mullins was named chairman of a committee to put on a bake sale in the near future.

The group also discussed the repairing of band equipment and the purchase of some new equipment for the band, as well as a possible concert in the spring by an outstanding band.

Hot Lunches In E. S. Schools Is PTA Aim

The East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers association will continue to work for the hot lunch programs in the school, it was decided last night at the first meeting of the new year held at the Junior High school building. The PTA now has $300 toward the project, it was announced.

Members were also asked to collect TV slips from the Acme toward a second TV set for the schools, and children will be asked to canvass their parents for membership in the PTA.

The new meeting night was set for the organization for the third Monday night of each month.

Michael Hannon, president, presided at the business meeting, and Theodore Miller, program chairman, presented a film "Understanding Children."

Mrs. Ida M. Strunk, of 555 North Fifth St., Stroudsburg, will leave today for Pittsburgh where she will attend the state conference of the Daughters of America as a representative of Victoria council, No. 165.

It is the 60th annual session of the organization and headquarters will be at the Hotel Roosevelt in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Strunk is at present vice councilor in the local organization, and is active in this and many other organizations.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There are nights when the social whirl turns into a young hurricane and the best you can do is pull up your feet and blow right along with it, like the leaves which are already making like little whirlpools in the driveway.

Bright bits salvaged from the maelstrom is the news that Capt. Gray Johnson is home from his trials and tribulations overseas; that when Mrs. Hubert Newton went to college she had to get used to her own countrymen after so many years of going to school with Indian classmates.

That the Community Concert list reads like a who's who of the clubs around town; that autumn flowers added a lot of color to the hospital rooms yesterday; that more women vote proportionately in Monroe county than in any other.

In fact, I'm persuaded that women in Monroe county do about a million more things than women in any other county even think of doing, and that right now they're doing them all at once and simultaneously.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVFO, 10:05 a.m.

Chaplain To Speak On Korean Events

Capt. Gray Johnson, chaplain in the U. S. Army, will be the guest speaker at special services to be held at the Gospel Tabernacle on Thursday night from 7 to 8 p. m.

Capt. Johnson is now spending a week at his home in Delaware Water Gap after 14 months in Korea during which he was lost behind the lines with a number of his company, was in an Army hospital for many months and had many other exciting experiences.

The regular prayer meeting at the tabernacle will be held after Capt. Johnson's talk. The public is invited.

Mrs. M. Blair For Welcome Wagon Here

Mrs. Mary E. Blair of 205 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, has returned from New York City where she completed a course of instruction preparing her to represent Welcome Wagon, Inc., as hostess in this community.

Welcome Wagon is a modern version of the hospitality extended by the scattered homesteaders who met the covered wagons of the pioneers along the way with wagons with food and water to refresh the travelers.

Today's Welcome Wagon hostesses carry the good wishes of civic and business organizations to families on the occasion of the birth of a baby, the sixteenth birthdays of teen-agers, engagement announcements and when families move from one home to another.

The hostess carries word of outstanding features of her community: Its libraries, churches, newspapers, parks, museums, youth groups, welfare associations, banks, shops, radio stations, restaurants, schools and services.

Mrs. Blair will also attend a convention for the Welcome Wagon hostesses of the Wyoming Valley area to be held at Pocono Manor Inn, October 1 and 2. There will be representatives from the entire state and some of the executives from the New York office.

The meetings will include such outstanding speakers as Rev. Jule Ayers of the First Presbyterian church of Wilkes-Barre; Robert Lewis, zone manager of American Stores Co., Wilkes-Barre, and Thomas W. Briggs, president and founder of Welcome Wagons.

Mrs. Newton Speaks At Manse At Silver Tea

Mrs. Hubert Newton, wife of Rev. Hubert E. Newton of the Delaware Water Gap Presbyterian church was the guest speaker at the annual silver tea of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Women's auxiliary held at the manse on North Sixth St.

Mrs. Newton, whose father was superintendent of a Navajo school where she attended with all Indian classmates until she left for college, gave a vivid picture of "Navajo Land" correcting many of the misconceptions of the land and of the people.

She told of their independence, their artistic skill, their self-control and their humor—but also of their poverty, their need of education, and their need of release from their religion founded on fear. She praised the work of the Canada Mission which she said was both school, hospital, church, and center for ministering to all the neighboring clans.

Mrs. Clifford Heller, vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Merle C. Ostrom, president. Mrs. E. H. Wyckoff presented the national and foreign mission study books available for the circles to study during the year, and urged that each circle adopt one of the four missionaries of the local church as their own for the coming year.

Tea was served with members of the Marie Capelli circle as hostesses and with Mrs. E. B. Turn and Mrs. William Webb presiding at the tea table.

Sciota Rebekahs To Meet Friday

Sciota — Sciota Rebekah Lodge No. 22, will meet Friday, September 28, at 8 p. m. when Mrs. Gwen J. Veety will conduct the meeting for the last time as noble grand of the lodge.

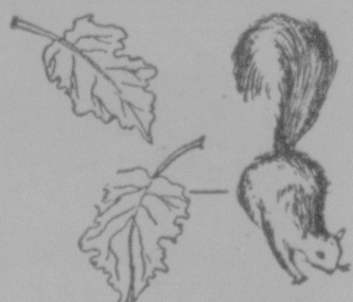

The meeting itself will be followed by a social time with movies and barbecues with coffee.

Installation of new officers will be held Friday, October 12, with a covered dish supper following the installation.

Daughter Is Born

Autumn Colors Brighten Trays At Hospital

Bright autumn flowers bloomed on the trays of patients at the General hospital yesterday while bigger bouquets added color to the hospital dining room and the Gray Ladies reception desk, as the hospital committee of the Monroe County Garden club shared their autumn gardens with the patients.

The flowers were from the gardens of Mrs. Jacob Haigh, Mrs. Roy Houser, Mrs. Elmer Kiefer Jr., and Mrs. Russell Hamblin.

More than 100 miniature tray bouquets and the larger bouquets were arranged by the committee of which Mrs. A. Starr Phelps is chairman and which included Mrs. David Shiffer, Mrs. Elmer Kiefer Jr., Miss Janet Kiefer and Mrs. Elwood Grant.

Sharon Fabel Honored On 10th Birthday

The Hawks received gifts of money and cards.

Many who were invited but unable to attend sent gifts.

Brotherhood Outlines Plans For Men's Tasks

In order that every man may have his share in the work of the church, the Brotherhood of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian church has set up a system of membership contacts which includes all the men of the church.

Walter McClelland, president of the brotherhood, presented a chart showing how the system would work out at the supper meeting which opened the brotherhood's year on Monday night at the Wyckoff Recreation room. The chart had been prepared by Arthur Widmer.

One of the projects in which the men will help is minor repairs and maintenance work at the church, and a committee was appointed to draw up plans for partitioning an extra Sunday school room in the building.

Another major project for the men will be the Every-member canvass of the church, and members were asked to attend the Wednesday night meetings preparatory to the canvass.

Stork Shower For Mrs. Dotey At Kresge Home

A surprise stork shower was held last night at the home of Mrs. Rachel Kresge, 1321 Dreher Ave., in honor of Mrs. Loren Dotey.

A basket decorated in pink and blue and topped by a miniature stork held the gifts from her friends. Refreshments were served.

Guests included Mrs. Mary Foster, Mrs. Beatrice Drake, Mrs. Mary Sox, Mrs. Mary Edjys, Mrs. Mary Coslar, Mrs. Anna Kovarich, Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, Mrs. Harriet Mador, Mrs. Jane Drake, Mrs. Marie Soukup, Mrs. Sarah Jane Thomas, Mrs. June Edlund, Mrs. Sara Weber, Mrs. Hannah Dotey and Mrs. Kresge.

Only three per cent of all women mentioned in Who's Who are under 35 years of age.

VFW Auxiliary Plans Dance For Hallowe'en

Plans for the annual Hallowe'en party of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary were announced at the auxiliary meeting at the post home on Monday night. The Hallowe'en party will be held Saturday, October 27, at the VFW home, when members of the auxiliary and of the post will come costumed.

Mrs. Lucille Coyne was welcomed as a new member, and was also selected to receive the attendance prize for the night.

The auxiliary made its second contribution to the Sister Keny Fund, this one for $10.

Members were asked to shower cards on one of their members, Mrs. Lettie Cooper, now a patient in the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia.

The meeting closed with a social time, and refreshments served from a table decorated in fall flowers, by Mrs. Georgia Albertson and the members of her committee: Mrs. Hattie Frantz, Mrs. Nellie Rustine, and Mrs. Jeanne Gutman.

Dirigo Class Sets Up Busy 3-Month Schedule

Dirigo class of the Zion Reformed church held its first fall meeting in the social room on Monday, September 24 with Mrs. Emily Rundle in charge of the opening devotions, and the president, Mrs. Bertha Risley in charge of the business meeting.

Mrs. Marion Bonser was named chairman of a rummage sale to be held the latter part of October. Members of the class and others have been asked to leave their donations at the church before that date.

The annual Christmas bazaar was set for December 5, at the church basement. Edith Warner was named chairman and Alice Hilyard co-chairman of the project for which each member is asked to bring two hand-made aprons and five small wrapped gifts for the Christmas tree.

Members of the class present were: Bertha Risley, Dottie Biedler, Esther Blatt, Edith Warner, Marguerite Berryman, Marti Bonser, Charlotte Transue, Faltie Argot, Alice Hilyard, Gladys Weber, Marie Altomero and Emily Rundle.

Mrs. Risley invited the members to her home for refreshments and a social time following the meeting.

Bushkill PTA Plans Fall Activities

Bushkill—The results of past work and plans for future money-raising projects were on the program of the Bushkill Parent-Teachers association which held its first meeting of the school year on Friday night in the school lunch room.

The new cooking equipment purchased for the hot lunch program was on display.

Miss Anna Courtright, new principal of the school, was introduced by the PTA president, Robert Minter.

The group decided to hold a paper drive, starting immediately. To save the work of rehandling the paper, friends of the school were asked to deliver the paper to the school in cartons or securely tied into bundles.

The children of the school will be entertained at a Hallowe'en party on October 26, and the PTA also planned a box social and spelling bee to be held November 16.

Each member was asked to put up a few extra jars of relish or jam during the canning season, which can be sold for the PTA during the summer. It was announced that the sum of $61.75 had been realized from the quilt which Mrs. Robert Minter, Mrs. Edwin Bartram and Mrs. B. H. Bensley had made during the summer for the organization.

Following the meeting, cookies and tea were served by the hostesses: Mrs. Lawrence Butz and Mrs. Robert Minter.

Grace Guild Has Supper Meeting, Plans Activities

The Women's Guild of the Grace Lutheran church, East Stroudsburg, last night opened their new year's activities with a pot luck supper at the church. Plans were made for a Hallowe'en masquerade party to be held at their October meeting, and for a pork and sauerkraut supper on November 7.

The Guild will also be in charge of the cafeteria and a booth at the Christmas bazaar at the church December 13 and 14.

Three new members were welcomed at the meeting: Mrs. Ethel Quick, Mrs. Mary Morrell and Mrs. Mary Murch.

More Women Vote In Monroe, Council Members Learn

In Monroe county, 63 per cent of the votes were cast by women, the highest proportion in the state, members of the Monroe Council of Republican Women learned yesterday at the regional conference held in Scranton.

Mrs. Russell W. Dixon, political activities chairman, gave this report in urging the members to break down the precinct to personal contacts.

Senator B. Heyburn, auditor general, advocated a "Little Hoover commission" in Harrisburg to report on cost to the public of pending bills, warning that Pennsylvania would pay $0 million of the proposed 6 billion non defense spending.

Hon. William F. Levensgood Jr. was the chief speaker at the afternoon session when he suggested that the Republican party forget personalities, adopt a positive platform, and be willing to pay the price of victory by living up to their principles if they would have success.

Mrs. J. Russell Custard, Mrs. Adolph Rake, Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin, Mrs. Floyd Bachman and Mrs. Leslie Davis attended the conference.

Tea For Women Of Christ Church

A tea and social for all the women of Christ Episcopal church will be held in the parish house on Tuesday, October 2, at 2:30 under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the church.

There will be brief reports of women's work in the church, and the baby dolls, which members will dress for the Christmas party, will be distributed at the meeting.

Double Party At LeBar Home

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood LeBar, Normal St., East Stroudsburg were honored at a double celebration Sunday, marking both their birthdays. A decorated birthday cake was presented to them by their daughter Rosa Lee LeBar, and they received other gifts from their son Bernard and his wife and son, Chris.

In the afternoon they went to Newton, N. J. to visit Mr. LeBar's brother, Raymond LeBar and his family.

Ninety Attend Lions Club Ladies Night

Ninety Lions and their ladies from the Stroudsburg club, dined and made merry last night at Diamond Inn, Saylorsburg. An elaborate entertainment was presented under the direction of Samuel Everitt, President T. Manning Curtis was in the chair.

Douglas Gordon presided at the piano and singing was under the leadership of Sam Everitt.

Attorney Elmer Christine, whose duties have kept him away from club meetings for some time, commented on the great recent expansion of the club and expressed his pleasure at getting back into Lions' work again.

Among the guests was Mrs. Oscar Gutman, whose late husband, Oscar Gutman, was an enthusiastic member of the club for many years. Mrs. Gutman was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kessler.

President Curtis had arranged for the presentation of rose corsages to all the ladies and these were given out by Orren Stiff.

Door prizes were awarded to Mrs. Charles Klinger, Betty Schmitt, Florence Halgh and Sally Viechnicki.

President Curtis spoke on the coming banquet of the Little League baseball groups and said that the Lions had been asked to dispose of 12 of these tickets. He pointed out the need of helping the movement. The club approved a motion by James Gavin to appropriate $25 for this work. Mr. Gavin spoke also on the providing of dolls for children in connection with the annual Lions' Christmas work.

A group of young artists from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College presented a number of novelties in the humorous and musical line. They included Bill Schmidt, Ed Bishop, Marty Asbacher, Jim Frawley, Dick Luttrell, Andy Livendis and Clem DeVinci.

Howard Atwell of Radio Station WVPO sang three solos. He was accompanied by pianist John Easton of East Stroudsburg.

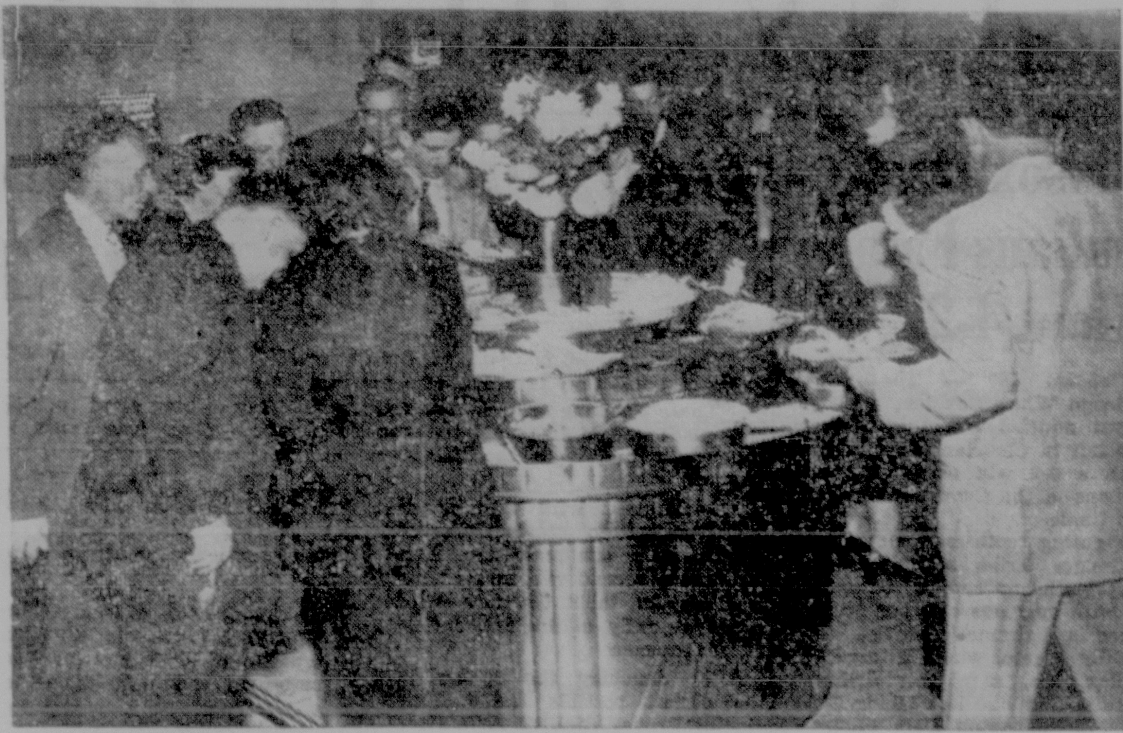

Mike Varkony and his staff were thanked for their service and the proprietor responded briefly in a jovial vein.

With the meeting of next Tuesday, the Lions will return to the Penn-Stroud hotel for Fall and Winter sessions.

Here's Test For Damp Basements

To test a basement floor for dampness before you plan to paint it, lay a piece of linoleum or heavy carpet on the cement for a few days.

If a dark spot shows when you lift the covering, it means moisture rises through the floor and evaporates. Paint will not be entirely successful on such a floor.

MacArthur May Head Rose Parade

Los Angeles, (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur may be grand marshal of Pasadena's famed rose parade on New Year's day.

Tournament of Roses officials said only that the general is "under consideration" for the role. They added that no official decision would be made before December 1.

However, the report followed closely on the announcement that the general and his family would spend the Christmas holidays here as the guest of hotelman Conrad Hilton.

Hunter Put On Probation In Shooting

Edward Roy Scholl, Allentown, has pleaded guilty in Monroe county court to charges of wounding a human being mistaken for game.

President Judge Fred W. Davis suspended imposition of sentence, but ordered Scholl to pay $200 to Ella Florence Neiss, Emmaus, who suffered a skin wound of her arm during the last doe season, while walking near her home.

Judge Davis also put Scholl on probation for three years, forbade him to hunt or to use firearms—except in defense of home or family—for five years.

Questions And Answers

For A Small Home
Q. We are planning to build a six-room house and would like to know what kind of foundations and framework are desirable.

A. The best foundation is undoubtedly one poured of concrete, but it is also more expensive. As for framework, the balloon frame is probably the best type for a small house.

Cellar Condensation
Q. In hot weather the basement walls sweat. On some days water runs over the floor. How can we keep out this dampness?

A. By ventilating the basement. The walls sweat because they are relatively cold and in contact with warm moist air. Leave windows open.

Money on wheels

If that spanking new express wagon that you've just bought for your son seems like money on wheels, don't blame those who make and sell express wagons. Blame the dollar! It buys less today than ever before.

It buys less for us, too.

The cost of supplies and equipment used in the telephone business is going up and up, just like the cost of supplies and equipment for other businesses.

We don't buy express wagons in the telephone business. But we do buy trucks—and the telephone installer's truck that cost $773 in 1940, costs us $1,855 today. That's an increase of 140 percent.

In spite of all this, we have continued to provide good, low-cost telephone service that keeps growing in value day by day.

Even if your telephone service should cost a few cents more a day, it would still be a big, big bargain.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Harry Schaeffer, Kutztown's gift to the athletic world, but an adopted son of Monroe County, certainly should have earned a chance with the New York Yankees during the spring training grind of 1952, on the strength of his showing with the Beaumont Roughnecks of the "AAA" Texas League during the past season. The lanky southpaw hurler won 20 and lost only nine games during the regular campaign, then put on an outstanding display of pitching in the post-season playoff series, against the pennant-winning Houston Buffs, while winning one and losing the same number of times.

Schaeffer first came to the notice of this locality when he did his pitching with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1946 and 1947, while attending East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, where he also made an outstanding mark for himself on the baseball diamond. Harry also played one season with the Veterans of Foreign Wars basketball team and did some hurling for the Portland Apollos, of the Blue Mountain League. Schaeffer is still one of the most popular players to ever perform for the Poconos, even though he campaigned with the local club during the first two seasons the North Atlantic League was in existence.

Harry had a mark of 19 victories and nine setbacks on the final day of the Texas League campaign, but the lanky left hander pitched Beaumont into third place over Dallas, after both clubs had completed the regular grind deadlocked for the third spot. Schaeffer then came back to down Houston in the third game of the first playoff series, 1-0, on a masterful two-hit job, giving up a double and single, striking out nine and allowing only two free tickets to first base. The likeable southpaw lost a heart-breaking 3-1 decision in the sixth and final game, although holding Houston to six hits, while his mates pounded out an even dozen.

Working with only two days rest, Harry saw his mates blow the game wide open by allowing two unearned runs to score in the eighth, after Houston tallied once in the sixth. Beaumont would have tied the contest in the ninth with a singleton, if the two unearned tallies wouldn't have been allowed to cross the plate. Harry banged out two hits himself in the final game, but even his heroic pitching and batting display failed to turn the tide and Beaumont dropped out of the post season classic.

Schaeffer was purchased by the New York Yankees at the end of the 1947, the one season the number one club in the American League had a working agreement with the local North Atlantic League entry. Harry spent the 1948 season with Newark, then a member of the International League, moved to Kansas City in 1949 and opened the 1950 campaign at the same base. However, Harry was sent down to Beaumont before the season had passed the infant stage. Schaeffer was used sparingly by Beaumont during most of the 1950 season, but near the end took his regular turn on the mound and accounted for several important victories.

Although the Poconos have had two players reach "AAA" status in organized baseball, they have yet to send one into the major leagues. Schaeffer certainly seems the only one destined to make the giant stride next year, if given the opportunity. Joe Seher, another southpaw hurler, was the other Stroudsburg player to make the "AAA" grade, also spending one season with Newark. In all, only three former North Atlantic performers have made the grade to the big time. The trio includes Danny O'Connell, Pittsburgh Pirates; Carl Sawatski, Chicago Cubs, and Jim Lemon, Cleveland Indians. All are former members of the Bloomington, N.J., club, since departed from the NAL fold.

If the North Atlantic League decides to operate next season, Frank Radler would be available to take over a managerial role, in the league which while leading the Poconos prior to taking over the Deland helm in the Florida State league. Frank signed with the Red Hots last spring with the agreement that he would be given his release at the end of the campaign. His request was granted, after winning the regular season flag and post-season playoff laurels. A final decision on the status of the NAL next year will be made at Glen Brook County club on Sunday, October 22.

Joe Kovarik took motion pictures of the Stroudsburg-Emmaus grid battle last Friday night. The early season predicting of this column was nothing to write home about, coming up with a mark of 37 correct and 15 incorrect selections, for a percentage of .712. Here's hoping that there are plenty of better days ahead. Dale Melms, pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1949, left the Cedar Rapids, Ia., class "B" Three "F" league, to enter the service during the post-season playoff series. Melms, who has had arm trouble for the past two seasons, was one of the prize packages of the entire Cleveland farm system while with the Poconos.

Shawnee Resident Named N.Y. Athletic Board Boss

Christenberry Named To Succeed Eagan

Albany, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey yesterday appointed a new boxing czar for New York State and demanded that the fight game clean house.

In one breath, Dewey announced the resignation of former amateur boxer Eddie Eagan and appointed Robert K. Christenberry, New York City hotel keeper, as chairman of the State Athletic Commission.

Christenberry maintains a home at Shawnee-on-Delaware, where he formed a combine with Fred Waring and the late William Waite to purchase Buckwood Inn from the Worthington interests and later changed the name to Shawnee Inn. Christenberry later withdrew from ownership of the local resort, but continued to reside in that section of Monroe county.

Newsmen asked the governor's secretary, James C. Hagerty, whether Dewey had forced out Eagan, in view of mounting criticism against the silver-haired, one-time Olympic champion.

Hagerty replied tersely: "He resigned. The announcement speaks for itself."

Christenberry, 32, is president of the Hotel Astor. He formerly was a sports writer and U. S. consular official. Eagan also 32, had held the $9,378-a-year post since 1945.

The new athletic commission head has been president of the Astor since 1943.

Both men are Republicans. In his letter of resignation, Eagan said he was quitting because of the pressure of his private law practice. Dewey said he had accepted the resignation "with the deepest of regret."

Chairman of the commission since 1945, Eagan has been serving in an interim capacity since his second three-year term expired on last January 1.

The three-member athletic commission, and especially Eagan, has been under heavy fire by sports writers and state legislators in recent years because of its handling of the boxing sport generally. Democratic legislators have charged that the commission did nothing to keep underworld influences out of the sport.

IBC Rapped
In appointing Christenberry, Dewey by implication rapped the International Boxing club, which virtually has a monopoly on major ring events.

"Every avenue must be kept open so that free competition exists in every licensed club in the state, with equal opportunity for every boxer," Dewey declared.

The governor also served notice he would appoint seven new members to the two-member state medical advisory board, which works with the athletic commission.

During Christenberry's sports writing career, he was employed by such outstanding papers as the Washington Herald, Jacksonville, Fla., Times Union and the Kansas City Star.

Under the LaGuardia administration, the new commission head directed the committee for the midtown Manhattan area to establish youth centers. Christenberry was born in Milan, Tenn., on January 27, 1899. He served with the Marine Corps in France during the first World War, and entered the consular service in 1920 and 1921, being placed at Vladivostok and Santo Domingo.

Charles Changes Plans

Pittsburgh (AP) — Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion slated to fight Rex Layne here October 8, opened training quarters in Pittsburgh yesterday—and then promptly closed them.

Charles said the facilities available were not to his liking. He decided to train in his own Cincinnati gym until October 4. Layne, 22, of Salt Lake City, is expected to set up quarters in Pittsburgh soon.

Giants Fight Way To Within Single Length Of Top Spot

By Herb Altschull
Philadelphia, (AP) — The grimly-determined New York Giants pounded out a 5-1 victory over Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies last night to close within one game of the first place Brooklyn Dodgers.

While the Giants were winning, the wobbly Dodgers dropped a two-night doubleheader to the fourth-place Boston Braves at Boston, 6-3 and 14-2.

The Giants now are closer to the National league leaders than they have been since May 19 when they trailed the Dodgers by two games despite a fifth-place slot in the league standings.

The Giants called on their ace starting pitcher, Sal Maglie when Jim Hearn faltered in the seventh. Maglie induced pinch hitter Del Ennis to bounce into a double play to end the inning and the Phils last threat.

It was an interesting pitching duel between Hearn and Roberts when Hearn was kayoed in the seventh.

Single Runs
The Giants scored single runs in the second, third and fifth to build up a 3-0 edge when the Phils came to bat in the seventh.

Willie Jones led off with his twenty-second home run of the year, a mighty wallop into the left center field stands. Hearn got the next batter but Eddie Waitkus and Del Wilber followed with consecutive singles.

Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Phillies derided Roberts in favor of Ennis and Leo Duncanson of the Giants countered by replacing Hearn with Maglie.

The count went to three and two on Ennis before he tapped to Alvin Dark who started the twin killing that ended the inning.

The Giants sewed up the game with a pair of runs off reliever Ken Heintzelman in the ninth.

The Giants counted first in the second inning when Whitey Lockman doubled and Bobby Thompson followed with a three bagger.

Dark blasted his fourteenth homer of the season in the third and a single by Don Mueller and a double by Monte Irvin produced the Giants third run in the fifth.

In the ninth, Wes Westrum singled and scored on Ed Stanky's triple into the right field bullpen. Stanky scored the fifth run on Dark's fly to center.

The victory was Hearn's sixteenth against nine defeats. For Roberts it marked his thirteenth defeat in 23 decisions.

Chisox Deal Indians Fatal Blow, 4-2

Chicago (AP) — The relaxed Chicago White Sox last night just about snuffed out the flickering life left in Cleveland's pennant bid with a 4-2 win over the reeling Indians in the Comiskey Park season finale.

Fighting tooth-and-nail, the second-place Tribe scored twice in the eighth and had the bases loaded with only one out, but failed to score in a dramatic ninth.

Billy Pierce, who scattered nine Indian hits, saved his fifth win against only one loss facing Cleveland, by snagging Dale Mitchell's liner with the sacks loaded and flipping to first for a game-ending double play.

Margin
The defeat sends the Indians back to Cleveland for their last two games of the season trailing first-place New York by three games.

The Indians have five more defeats than the Yanks, the factor that almost murders their flag chance.

The Yanks, whose game with Philadelphia was rained out, can beat out the Indians by winning only two of their remaining six games.

The Sox hung the defeat on Early Wynn, first of three ace Tribe hurlers used by Manager Al Lopez in trying to salvage the Tribe's big "must" game. Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia followed Wynn, who failed in the bid for his twenty-first win against 12 losses.

8-tied
The game was settled during the four innings Wynn toiled as the White Sox clipped him for nine of their 12 hits. The Hose produced one run on two hits in the second and two in the fourth when they exploded five blows.

Grover Minoso belted across an insurance marker with his tenth homer of the season off Lemon in the seventh.

A throng of 24,959 thought Pierce had the game in the bag, but the Tribe suddenly came out battling in the eighth.

Al Rosen's two-run single after pinch-hitter Birdie Tebbets singled and Dale Mitchell doubled did the trick for Cleveland in the eighth. A single by Ray Boone and pinch-hitter Bob Avila loaded the bases with only one out in the Tribe ninth. But that's where Pierce made his stabbing catch of Mitchell's low liner for the twin killing ending the game.

Tigers Blank Brownies, 2-0

St. Louis, (AP) — Ted Gray gave up six hits and struck out ten—three of them in one inning—to give the Detroit Tigers a 2 to 0 decision over the St. Louis Browns last night. The Tigers pushed across a run in both the first and last innings.

Tommy Byrne, frequently wild during the season, had good control except for those two innings. He walked two and gave up two singles in the first with "Hoot" Evers battling home George Kell.

In the ninth, three walks and Johnny Lipon's double brought Myron Ginsberg home. A pickoff play prevented another run in that frame.

Dodgers Drop Important Pair Of Tilts To Braves

Boston, (AP) — Brooklyn's heretofore boastful Dodgers, suddenly seized by panic, collapsed almost entirely last night while dropping a floodlighted doubleheader to the Boston Braves 6-3 and 14-2.

Those shocking setbacks enabled the furiously driving New York Giants to whittle down the Dodgers' first-place lead to a single game with three more to play. The Dodgers still have five to go, including another pair here with the Tribesmen.

The Braves, with nothing at stake except to provide Warren Spahn, their southpaw ace, with his twenty-second win, started the Dodgers on their downfall with a six-run rally in the first inning of the opener.

After clinching the opener in the easiest possible fashion, the gleeful Braves pounced on starter Carl Erskine for six runs on three hits and as many errors in the second session of the afterpiece.

Spahn, a plus 20-gamer for the third year in a row, kept nine Dodgers hits, including an Andy Pafko homer, well scattered as he struck out five to boost his season's total to 163, the highest in the majors.

Bob Addis started it with a single and Sam Jethroe followed with his seventeenth homer. King took over after Earl Torgeson singled and Sid Gordon drew a base on balls.

Tough Going
King got underway by passing Walker Cooper to load the bases and, with one out, forced in Torgeson with a pass to Sibby Sisti. Then Buddy Kerr lashed a three-run double off the left-center wall.

Jim Wilson was supported by a 14-hit attack, that included five two-baggers and a Torgeson homer, while limiting the sadly battered Brooks to three hits in their second-game routing.

Charlie Dressen opened with Carl Erskine, his 16-game winner, but the latter was betrayed in the second frame when the Braves tallied another half-dozen times on three hits, as many errors and two bases on balls.

Erskine started his own downfall by throwing wildly into left field trying to nail Elba St. Claire at third after Kerr sacrificed with two aboard. That miscue cost two runs.

Peewee Reese then fumbled a grounder and Carl Furillo overthrew second base when Willard Marshall's double drove in Torgeson.

Senators Put End To Pennant Dream For Crimson Hose, 3-0

Washington, (AP) — Washington's Bob Porterfield all but buried the Boston Red Sox's flickering pennant hopes last night when he pitched a masterful two-hitter to give the Senators a 3-0 victory.

Porterfield had a no-hit game for six innings. Johnny Pesky's shoulder over Porterfield's head starting the seventh was the first hit off him. After Ted Williams hit into a double play, Clyde Vollmer singled sharply to left field.

Even Record
Porterfield walked four and struck out three to capture his third straight game and even his record at 8-8.

Washington scored twice off Leo Kiley, rookie left hander, in the second inning. With one out Pete Runnels doubled to left and Mike McCormick walked. Clyde Klutts' single scored Runnels. McCormick scored from third when Aaron Robinson dropped third baseman Fred Hatfield's throw to the plate after Hatfield had fielded Porterfield's grounder.

The Senators scored their other run in the sixth inning when Sam Mele tripled and scored on Gil Coan's fly to Vollmer in right field. Boston — 000 000 000 — 0 2 2 when Roy Smalley singled and Gene Hermanski's hit sent him home.
Washington — 020 001 00x — 3 8 0

A walk for Hank Sauer and a double by Ransom set up the Cub's last two runs. Sauer raced home as Queen threw Fred Richards out at first and Jackson scored on a single by Smalley.

Saddler Rates Favorite's Role Over Pep

By Jack Hand

New York (AP)—Chapter four of the Saddler-Willie Pep featherweight title series, scheduled for tonight at the Polo grounds, is fighting an uphill battle against rain, baseball talk and Louis-Marciano.

Showers put the damper on the International Boxing club's hopes for a good windup sale. Plenty of choice seats remained on the racks at $20. Best estimate is a house of 15,000 and a gate of $75,000.

Despite a ban on home television and radio the fight failed to whip up the enthusiasm of their third meeting last September, when 38,781 paid $262,150 to see Pep retire on his stool after seven rounds, claiming a dislocated left shoulder.

There will be theater TV, with New York blacked out, in 17 theaters in 13 cities, and movies of the fight the next day in the theaters. This package will bring in $110,000 or more than the IBC expects at the gate.

Gate Slices

Saddler, the defending champ and two to one favorite, takes a 37½ per cent slice of the gravy. Pep, trying to become the first to hold the same title three times, gets 22½ per cent.

Rain doused Manhattan yesterday in periodic showers. The weatherman said more of the same was to be expected, ending early today. The forecast for today is mostly cloudy with temperatures in the 70s.

The heavy fight schedule for late summer and early fall had its effect on the gate appeal of the 126-pounders. Just as Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin eclipsed the Kid Gavilan-Billy Graham show, the shadow of Joe Louis-Rocky Marciano on October 11 dimmed this match.

If this 15-round match, scheduled for 10:00 p. m. (EDT), lives up to the others it will be an interesting contest. The first two were better than the third with its unfortunate ending.

Kuzava Remains Casey's Choice Against A's

New York (AP)—Casey Stengel did approximately a mile and a quarter, or the full derby distance, as he paced between the Yankees' dressing room and the dugout before yesterday's game with the Philadelphia Athletics was postponed because of rain.

The Yankee pilot wanted badly to get the game out of the way—win or lose—so that his athletes might enjoy two full days of rest before going into their vital five-game set with the Boston Red Sox over the coming weekend.

Walking Uniform

He got himself down to a pair of bright green underpants, suitable for pacing, long before noon. Between that time and the actual postponement an hour later he beat a steady path through the depths of the stadium to the dugout's dripping steps, looking anxiously for some sign of a let-up in the moisture.

"What if it rains again today?" he demanded while taking the clubhouse turn. "That's what Topping (President Dan of the Yankees) tells me we're liable to get."

"Know what that'll mean?" "I'll mean my pitching staff will have six games in four days, starting Thursday. Whenever we play these fellows (the Athletics) I'll start Bob Kuzava, the way I planned yesterday, but it means he'll have that much less rest if I need him in the bullpen against those other fellows (Boston)."

While Casey did the walking and the worrying, his players sat on the stools in their dressing cubicles, half suited-up, listening for the latest reports from outside. They wanted to get the game over with, too. Finally the word came from upstairs that it was off, and they began quietly to dress again.

Little League Banquet To Be Held Monday

Strodsburg's Little League will hold its first banquet at the Penn-Strodsburg hotel on Monday, with the meal scheduled to be served at 6:30 p. m. It was announced last night by John R. Wilson, secretary of the league.

T. Manning "Cap" Curtis, athletic director at the Strodsburg schools will be the guest speaker, while Marty Baldwin, president of the circuit, serves as toastmaster.

Cost of the banquet will be defrayed by the league and supporters of the circuit who have announced that they will aid the banquet plans. It is hoped by the league that the banquet will become an annual affair.

Tickets

Tickets are available for anyone wishing to attend the affair, at $2.50 per person. Reservations for the banquet may be made by calling the Monroe County YMCA, Strodsburg 832.

Individual awards will be made by the league to members of the winning team and a trophy will also be presented to the National Bank, number one club in the final standings.

There will also be awards by the sponsor of the winning squad to players and managers alike.

Softball Title On Line Today

Worthington Mower, top team in the recent Gold Medal Tournament, and the Eagles tangle in the deciding game of the Monroe County Softball league playoff series today, at the East Strodsburg Junior High school field. The contest is scheduled to get underway promptly at 6 p. m.

Pitchers

Gail "Doc" Fegley is scheduled to do the pitching for the Eagles tonight, while Marcus "Mare" Decker is slated to toe the rubber for Worthington Mower. All players are asked to report for the game not later than 5:45 p. m.

The Eagles won the opening encounter of the series when the second half title holder scored an 11-2 conquest. Worthington Mower, winner of the first half race, came back to even the count by taking the second title, 7-1.

Dr. Jordan Again Heads Cancer Group

Dr. Claus Jordan was re-elected president of the Monroe County Chapter, American Cancer Society at a meeting of members in General Hospital last night.

Other officers nominated and elected include:

J. Joseph McCluskey, vice president; Mrs. Gladys (CQ) Arnold, secretary; John Watt, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Miller, treasury campaign.

Dr. Jordan conducted the meeting which received a report from Dr. M. J. Leitner the hospital is ready to operate a tumor clinic. He advised that secretarial help on a part time basis is needed.

Nurses, professional staff and facilities are all ready, Dr. Leitner advised. A secretary with personnel experience and general office experience is needed.

Robert Widmer, member of the advertising staff of The Daily Record, was elected to the board.

Selection of a campaign manager will be made and announced later.

Members approved a plan to send representatives to a training school at Bedford Springs October 5, 6 and 7. Mrs. Miller said she plans to attend in addition to Dr. Jordan, Dr. E. T. Horn and the campaign manager.

Mrs. Miller gave a report on an area meeting held in Pocono Manor when discussion centered on problems affecting this region.

A projector for use of General Hospital has been purchased by the society.

Others present were Mrs. C. D. Shull, Mrs. Howard Keiper, Jr., Russell Imbt, Dr. Jordan, Clifford Cramer, Joe Webster, Alfred Munson.
